Each school year which passes can be remembered in a certain light. Eisenhower's first year, 1971, stood out as perhaps the most rebellious year in the school's short history. Since then, Ike has worked toward maintaining a calm profile, and a decade of maturing it has mellowed many attitudes.

In the fall of 1981, steps toward a conventional atmosphere were so abrupt that many looked upon them as "revolution."

The feelings of the times, the styles of the day, the methods of teaching and living, and generally life itself went back to basics.

Welcome to the pages of Introspectus 1982; and welcome back to basics. A simple, yet classic edition of what once was, and what will be again.

The nature of what, and who, we are.

Students respected, appreciated, and admired the beauty of nature....the crispness of a fall day and the serenity of a gentle Christmas snowfall.

Slowly but surely, the age-old tradition of the nuclear family was reinstated and was important to Eisenhower's students. The basic influences of home were also reflected in the foods which students ate. Gone from Ike were the pop and junk food dispensers. The standard jokes about school lunches became extinct. The salad bar, a new favorite of the lunch eating crowd, contained simple, yet nutritious foods.

The government around Eisenhower students was also streamlining itself. At all levels old methods were being attacked as if by chain saw, leaving no money wasting rock unturned. Wasteful government programs were permanently sidelined and the end result was a greater spendable income for all Americans.

"Preppy" was short for preparatory. That tells a storv in itself. The greatest influence on clothes today was set by the standards of the ivy league schools in eastern USA .

This collegiate style of dressing was very basic. However, there was still room for freedom of expression. Those who indulged in "punk" attire, although pushing fashion to the extreme, basically owned the same styles of clothing as the "full-fledged preppy."

Today's clothes left something to be desired: specifically, variety. All students, male and female, avoided making waves and adhered to the common standards accepted by their peers.

Declining enrollment has cut the number of students attending Ike but it also has helped unite and form a bond among students.

Fewer students have walked through Eisenhower's doors each year for about four years. Township figures estimate the student enrollment to continue this decline for another decade. There was also the dreaded rumor of combining Eisenhower and MacArthur into one rather large Class "A" school. This union would defeat the advantage of two smaller schools.

Eisenhower was a family unit this year. Woven together with a certain pride, a conservative, caring principal, and a close student body, the knit of unity was simple, but special.

The Beatles' medley, the Beach Boys' medley, and the influence of Jim Morrison paved the way for the resurgence of music popular ten and twenty years ago.

When rock's earliest roots were traced, many tunes thought to be original material in the 80's actually were around for two decades.

Radio stations in the area dropped out from out from the heavy metal scene and switched to an easy rock sound. 105 FM, WWCK (Flint) was the only true rock station within reach of the Saginaw valley.

Even "punk" rock didn't vary far from the 50's and 60's sound. Groups upbeated the sound and introduced a very consistent rythym.

"Well, it's Monday again!," sighs Molly Hunter as she prepares for another tough assignment in calculus.

A school designed in the 60's doesn't necessarily meet the needs of the 80's.

Look around. Eisenhower's classrooms finally fit the conventional form of four (well, at least three) walls.

For the first time in the history of the school, Eisenhower physically looked like a school. The openness of Ike was remolded into the conformity of tradition.

The reason for this was a proven standard with obvious consequences; students learn better under a quiet, controlled environment.

To a newcomer, unfamiliar with Ike's former "roominess', a more noticeable basic education standard than the walls was the supply of bright new books accompanying students through the halls.

In a rather physical way, the school not only accepted, but welcomed the return to conventionalism

A decade has proven that the innovative methods of the 70's don't work.

There was a heavy emphasis on the three basics, readin', ritin', and 'rithmetic, especially reading! Whatever the course may have been, reading, or learning how to read was stressed. The class of the 70's, "Reading for Pleasure" was no longer available. If that class were offered in 1981-82, it would have had to be renamed "English."

Because of demand, calculus was reinstated. Physics II was in some students schedules, as was the growing Honors Seminar and Latin.

Back to basics is Introspectus 1982.

It is important to keep in mind that "Back to basics" means more than just preppy clothes and new walls at Ike. It can be viewed as the light at the end of the tunnel. The storms of recession, rebellion, and hopeless despair can be at least temporarily set aside.

Basically, "Back to basics" is having a positive outlook for tomorrow. "Back to basics" is Introspectus 1982.

The Senior Citizen dinner was given an added sparkle. Here Jenni Erway and Michelle Quinn help by hanging a star in the student center.

Freshmen tread on heels of sophomores

Decorating for the senior citizen dinner on Thanksgiving gave the freshmen class a feeling of great pride.

Lorlean Miller, president; Chris Clarke, vice president; Shelley Heney, secretary; and Amy Hale, treasurer; undertook numerous activities, such as a bonfire and a sleigh ride.

The freshmen class, as did the sophomore class, went tobogganing, skiing, and had a Christmas party. The money used for these activities was raised by selling candy door to door, and selling candles at Christmas.

The freshmen were advised by Mr. Walter Nagel.

Despite disruptions class obtains unity

In attaining its goal of $2,000, the Sophomore Class Council engaged in many energetic encounters. These included having raffles in the fall and spring, selling candy, and having car washes and bake sales.

Leading the council with guidance were Mr. Kim Kolbe and Mr.Tom Pugh. Giving their aid to the president, Paula Binasio, vice president Crissy Douglas, secretary Julie Brasseur, and treasurer Lori Devereaux, they resolved their meager differences.

President Paula Binasio believed class involvement was essential. "We need class involvement, we want to take into consideration each sophomore and make them feel a part of the class," she said.

The sophomore class made various trips, which took them from a Lions' football game in the fall to a tantalizing trip to King's Island and the Quad for a movie in the spring.

Participation is what the Junior Class Council had in mind for this year. Their goal was to get more participation in many more activities. Many of their ideas included a pledge car wash, a hayride with a bonfire, a canoe trip, and a ski trip, with possibilities of a sleigh ride, Christmas caroling, and a class trip to Mackinaw Island. Another one of their major projects was organizing the prom. Their objective was to have it go as smooth as possible. The elected officers were, President Michelle Brausseur, Vice President Mary Lou Molesky, Secretary Ann Egerer, and Treasurer Deanie Gagnon. Advisors were Mr. Rummler, and Mr. Decker. Unity stressed in final year

Bring Pride to the School! That was the Senior Class Council's main objective this year. Its main intention was to have the Senior Class enjoy its final year at Eisenhower as much as possible. To prove that, many activities were planned. Some of them included a barn dance, a ski trip, tobogganing, Christmas caroling, and cookouts. In order to get more people involved, everyone who ran made council. This year's president was Add Cummings, Vice President Tom Bourcier, Secretary Sue Ray, and Treasurer Mary Morley. The advisors were Mrs. Fleener and Mrs. Dunham.

The Word develops new format

Editor-In-Chief Debbie Burzyck

In the five issues The Word newspaper staff published, it demonstrated its diversity by eliminating the repitition of stories already covered by one of the area's local papers, and adding more pizzazz, with bigger and brighter features.

Editor Debbie Burzyck said one of the staff's main objectives was to do more features in 1982, and this it did by covering subjects that boosted students' interest. Many issues included a career section, articles on movies and music, and the addition of a regular "people" feature spotlighting selected students' talents and hobbies.

Another of the refreshing new features to hit The Word was the editorial comics drawn by Associate Editor Joe Nicita. His drawings entered the controversial areas of selling candy in school; drinking at school activities; and the new mandatory spelling tests.

This year's staff, along with all its changes, was also very pleased with the amount of involovement shown by the students at Eisenhower. Debbie said the paper received enough letters to place one in each issue.

All of these new ideas, along with much time and effort, helped this year's staff to achieve its goal of printing a paper unlike any other school periodical.

Bravely setting foot into unsettled areas, Introspectus 1982 went places no other Eisenhower yearbook had dared to venture.

A cleaner layout design, easy to read type and headline styles, and 20 added pages were a few of the subtle changes. Quill and Scroll recognizes excellence

Striving for the finest in literary quality, the inducted members of Eisenhower's Quill and Scroll organization gave the two school publications a journalistic excellence unmatched in recent years.

The 1981-82 editions of The Word, the school newspaper, and Introspectus, the yearbook, were honored with several awards.

Quill and Scroll, the national honorary for high school journalists, requires members to have made outstanding achievements in at least area of journalism, be in the upper third of their class, and be a second semester sophomore, junior, or senior.

The club advisor was Miss Elizabeth Spaulding.

by Joe Ott

Seven years of training in journalism provided the Introspectus and Word Staffs with the outstanding skills and leadership in editors Joe Ott and Debbie Burzyck. Ott was the only student in Eisenhower's history to be a publications member for four years.

Involvement in community service was the goal of this year's National Honor Society. Some of the members tutored elementary children (second semester). They tutored primarily in the special education classes at Weiss and Sherwood schools.

The National Honor Society this year is comprised of 35 members who have a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

In order to raise money for the 1982 spring banquet, at which time they honor juniors eligible for membership in the National Honor Society, the members sold Christmas Current and worked at the Eisenhower bingos.

Officers elected for the 1981-1982 year were: President, Nancy Caswell; Vice President, Tammy Detloff; Secretary/Treasurer, Debbie Burzyck. Advisors were Miss Polzin and Mrs. Schultz.

Forum reduces size to increase quality

Plenty of hard work is required of Forum members, as John Donaghy, Tom Schwannecke, and John Kelly demonstrate by putting together an Eisenhower newsletter.

Planning activities for students and teachers, remaining involved with the community, and keeping the school in a pleasant condition were only a few of the ways Forum kept active this year.

Forum, Eisenhower's form of student government, consisted primarily of students. Last spring elections were held to select representatives from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Freshmen were elected in the fall. Five students from each class and five teachers were chosen this year rather than eight of each as there was in previous years. Also participating was one representative each of custodians, kitchen workers, and administration. Serving as advisor for his second year was Mr. Jim Rummler.

Forum began the year with a camping trip on the Muskegon River. It was here where the group set goals for the year and formed special committees.

Planning activities such as Spook & Spirit Day, the pizza auction, and the Thanksgiving food drive was the responsibility of the Current Affairs Committee. The Communications Committee kept the bulletin board and sports marquis up to date and took care of the voice box box, exchange days, and visitations to nursing homes.

The Betterment Committee helped keep the school looking nice by fixing tables and chairs, sweeping the parking lot, and doing other projects to better the school. Several responsibilities of the Clubs and Organizations Committee were to organize a blood drive and to keep communication with the various school clubs.

This year Forum tried something new. Several times during the year Gripe Day was held. This was a day in which students and staff could go to the theatre, 4th hour, and voice their opinion or gripe about anything within the school.

Officers were elected into office this year before the freshmen members were selected. Elected into office was Chairman, Sue Ray; Co-Chairman, Dana Weir Secretary, Mary Morley; and Treasurer, Michelle Brasseur. These'officers worked on specific activities such as PRIDE week, a poem and essay contest, the staff appreciation breakfast, and the King's court dance.

Talented musicians share their gift of music

Attending MSU Band Day and playing in the Christmas Parade were just two of the activities that the Eisenhower Marching Commanders participated in this year. The marching band went to the MSU Band Day on September 26 and watched different high school bands perform. A variety of styles were shown, some of which they applied to their own performances at Eisenhower's home football games.

A first place was won in the high school band division in the Christmas parade. The parade, which was in the downtown westside of the city, went through slush and snow down Michigan Avenue. They received 200 dollars for their first place. The money was used by the booster club. The band also showed their musical talents at Community Village during the Christmas season.

At the end of the football season , a transition was made and the Marching Commanders became the concert band. The marching uniforms were traded in for green skirts and jackets as they performed a variety of carols at the annual Christmas concert.

The pep band consisted of the concert band members. From their position on the bleacher seats, they peped out an array of music for basketball games and pep assemblies.

Another entirely different aspect of bands was the Jazz band. This arrangement of brass and electronics consists of 16 people. They also have performed at many concerts.

This years' bands were supported by the music boosters. They are a group of parents who are concerned with the music program at Eisenhower. They raised money by operating the concession stand at football games. They used this money towards buying instruments, music, and repairing instruments.

Adding spice to the marching band up front were the flag girls, led by Manjit Gil and baton twirlers Margo Roselle and Lisa Larson. Robin Lakey, a senior, was this years drum major and led the marching band in the cold fall weather. All the bands were led by Mike Vierow, whose conducting produced this years fine bands.

Pep Club Advisor, Mr. Russ Spaulding.

One shocked Karen Matthias gets caught in the act of putting up signs for this year's Holiday Dance.

The planning of homecoming was the biggest event for this year‘s Pep Club. Many changes were made for the 1981 homecoming. Some of these included using a disc jockey instead of a band and changing the dance to a semi-formal occasion.

The Pep Club was also involved in the Great American Smokeout that was held at Eisenhower High School on November 19, 1981.

"Holiday" was a new dance this year planned by the Pep Club. The dance was held on December 19, 1981 in the Eisenhower Student Center. It was a semi-formal affair and you had the choice of coming with a date, stag or just with a bunch of friends.

Some of the pep assembies were held by the Pep Club and at one assembly they had a slave auction, in which $50 of the proceeds went to UNICEF.

The Pep Club this year honored all the sport teams by putting up signs in the players lockers and by putting signs up in the Student Center.

To raise money they sold license plates and pom-pons.

Many of this year‘s activities were accomplished through the direction of this years officers who were: President, Tammy Detloff; Vice President, Jenean Jarabek; Secretary, Sheri Lucas; Treasurer, Jenny Wight.

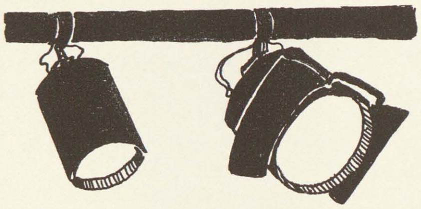
Enthusiasm explodes in Pep Club



The show must go on!

Drama club is a group of people who work together to either perform plays or help out with the productions.

The club was off to a very good start until it was informed that it must search for a new playdirector. Although unable to produce plays, the club stuck together by holding meetings and attending funfilled events. One of its first events was a field trip to Detroit to see a play called, "A Chorus Line."

The club also paid a visit to the Renaissance Center. During the winter months the club was interested in Tobagonning and iceskating.

After Mr. Charles Marvin went through several interviews, a director was picked.

Financially, the club is well set. It made a profit on plays by selling tickets and having an intermission during the plays.

The club hoped to present two to three plays - one a comedy, another either a senior class play or a competition play between classes. To end the year, it also wanted to present a musical.

On the annual Pigeon River trip, Chuck deSibour and Lynn Krueger enjoy the vast amount of leisure time away from crowded suburbia.

A reduction in size as well as the number of field trips plagued the Outdoors Club this year.

The trip to Pigeon River State Forest on January 22, 23, and 24 highlighted the year's activities. It had been the first trip of the season. Some members arrived a day early to find themselves pitching their tent in the dark of night.

Activities on the trip were somewhat limited but the club made full use of the two-foot high snow. They partook in cross country skiing, tobogganing, and hiking.

The trip was a successful one despite an ice storm on the second day. With it came sub-zero temperatures.

Serving as club president was Debbie Cieszlak along with Lynn Krueger as her vice. Debbie Burzyck was voted secretary, and the treasurer post was held by Rob Nagel.

A bike trip was also taken in May. Participants included many non-members on the ride to Sanford Lake State Park where they spent the night.

Harmonizing voices were heard throughout the community

Sweet melodic tones come out of the sopranos as they work on the chorus.

Warming up for the Christmas concert are basses Mike Griffin, Randy Beaver, and Randy Charboneau.

Freshmen students made up the majority of this year's choir, giving it a new, broader sound.

The 28 members sang at the spring and Christmas concerts and caroled in the halls. They were accompanied by pianist, Jan Taylor.

A group of female sopranos and altos formed the Pieces of Eight. They also performed at the spring and Christmas concerts. A heartwarming visit was made to nursing homes to sing for the elderly. Robin Lakey accompanied the eight girls.

Directing the harmonizing talents was Mrs. Linda Schopp. Her excellent leading and selection of songs brought the choir voices together.

Mr. Nagel and Eisenhower's Art Department continued to introduce students to the fine arts through the Art I course. Drawing, design, painting, sculpture, silkscreen printing, and pottery are among the media offered. Students finding they have a talent or just enjoying working in a specific area mav have advanced to pottery class, Art II, drawing and silkscreen, and painting. This year, studio art an enriched class combining all four grades, was introduced to meet the needs of the more motivated art students; by using advanced techniques in solving art problems.

The paintings and drawings of the art students, displaying creative minds and active imaginations, have competed with other schools on both a local and national level. In January, to start off the year, several works were entered in the National Scholastic Art Competition. In the spring, Eisenhower's compositions were shown in the annual Saginaw Womens' Club exhibit, the Festival of Religion and the Arts, the Michigan Youth Art Festival at Central Michigan University, as well as the Fashion Square Mall Art Festival, featuring the work of young artists from Saginaw area schools. Mr. Nagel and other Township art teachers hoped to stage a Township Enrichment Exhibition presenting the designs of the talented Studio Art pupils. When not in competition, Eisenhower students' art work has been regularly displayed at the Saginaw Township schools' Administration Center throughout the year.

The science area expanded its scope into many different directions with the addition of four new classes.

There was earth science for those interested in the outdoors and ecology for those interested in man's environment.

For those more advanced than others there was the addition of Physics 2 and Chemistry 2.

Many field trips were taken by the Physics department as they visited the Flint Longway Planetarium and the Delta Planetarium. These were conducted by Mr. Bill Stocker and Mr. Dick Williams.

While walking through the science area you'll never experience a dull moment as the classes are constantly testing theories or experimenting with new chemicals. These classes were oriented for those gifted in math and science.

Home construction student Kurt Snyder works on a brace that will support the new computers in the new computer room.

This years math area went through a series of changes ranging from additions of walls and computers to saying good-bye to an old teacher.

The first change was the loss of and old teacher, Mr. Jerry Slosser. During his three years at Eisenhower, Mr. Slosser taught classes ranging from geometry to computer basics. Mr. Slosser is presently pursuing his teaching career in Richmond, Virginia where he is teaching high-school mathematics. He was missed greatly by the staff and students of Eisenhower.

Another of the noticable changes that took place in the math area, along with the red and gold areas, was the addition of walls deviding up all of the classrooms. Teachers and students feel that this was a long needed change.

The last and most modern change was the add addition of several computers and a room to house them. Last year the computer classes had one Deckwriter and an Apple computer on which to work. This year, five more Apple computers have been added and compter teacher Mr. Dana says that he is planning to attain one more Apple and get rid of the Deckwriter.

Along with the computers was the building of one more wall by the home construction class. With this wall, a room was formed to be used by the computer, physics and any other class wishing to use the computers.

Eisenhower's English Department swung into the year offering many different classes. Besides basic grammar; senior comp. creative writing, and journalism were just a few which fulfill the English credit. Journalism is also a part of the publications department which prepares students for newspaper and yearbook classes at Ike. While senior composition has proven to be one of the most difficult classes for seniors to pass, college bound students found it some what of a challenge. The idea behind senior composition is to prepare seniors for difficult college English courses.

A variety of classes are offered in Eisenhower's Social Studies Department. The classes range from the past such as U.S. history to things that have to do with our society now, such as economics and government. Other classes deal with ourselves. These classes are social problems, psychology, and a few others. As a freshman, world cultures is required to graduate. During your junior and senior years, U.S. history, government and one-half credit of social studies is also required for graduation.

The foreign language clubs worked hard to encourage interest in the culture and language of each club. The members sold goods from shoelaces to sausage and cheese to raise money for their activities.

The Spanish Club planned meetings at Casa del Rey; a field trip to Flint for a spanish music and dance show; and a tobogganing trip. The German Club went canoeing, tobogganing, and had a german dinner. A trip to France was the main activity of the French Club. It also raised money for a fashion show and saw "Le Petit Prince" (The Little Prince), and had a french dinner.

Students express unique individuality

Cube confuses Commanders

When this square piece of multi-colored plastic was first produced, no one ever believed it would become the craze of the nation. Skeptics said it was too complicated to catch on. Who would pay money for Rubik's "cube" which nobody could solve?

Ironically it was its complexity that became its selling point. People became intrigued by its simple yet intricate and mind-boggling array of colors.

Why did Rubik's sell? People bought it to get even with a friend who had mastered it. They bought it to become the first on the block to solve the "cube." For whatever reason this neat little nick-nack from a small Hungarian town did become the "in" fad of the world.

Parents also caught on quick. They could buy a Rubik's Cube for much less than an Atari Video Game; there was no assembly required; and it kept the kids occupied for hours.

It wasn't long before mathematical wizards figured out how to solve this painful piece of plastic. It was a race to the publisher, and the books hit the shelves soon after. Everybody who bought the cube had to buy the book. However, the book's solution was nearly as complicated as the cube itself.

People soon beat the plastic puzzle, and it was no longer a question of who could, but who could the fastest.

About 30 students who could solve the cube were timed, but only about 15 could break the three minute mark. Out of these 15, only five people were under two minutes. With a time of one minute, 17 seconds; Gary Boss emerged as the fastest person to solve the cube. Gary's only close competitor was Tom Dornseifer, who had a time of one minute, 27 seconds. The other three cubests ranged from one minute, 50 seconds; to just under two minutes. Gary and Tom agreed the key to their success was simply a series of memorized combinations used to change the colors into different places.

There are many off-shoots of Rubik's Cube, but perhaps the most noticeable innovation was a puzzle with, ah, two interlocking pieces. Appropriately named the "Boob Cube," Eisenhower's frustrated majority of cubest need no longer feel alone.

Area night life leaves something to be desired

Ahhh! The glitter and excitement of Saginaw Township on a Friday night.

"What are we gonna' do tonight?" asks the fired-up student after a week of school.

The answer to this oh-so-commonly asked question is, according to Ike students, a resounding, "I don't know," or "There's nothing to do in this town."

So the frustrated kids spend another weekend sitting around.

With an ample supply of money and a cooperative member of the opposite sex, you could take in a $4.00 movie at the Quad.

Money is the major issue of the weekend. Without it, you're up a creek without a paddle. With it, well you've got it made . . . almost.

With a little money, the township has a lot to offer.

During the wintry season, there's basketball, Mac's and malling it out. In the spring, you've got Prom, Burger King, and malling it out. On toward the summer, there's watching the sun go down, Wendy's, and malling it out. Finally, in the fall, you've go your choice of football, Taco Bell, and malling it out.

Don't feel so bad, Saginaw could be worse. And anyway, there's always rollerskating.

Violence shatters nation

A wave of crime stained the United States and the world in 1981. For two heads of state, life-threatening bullets left temporary wounds. For a third, the scars were permanent. President Ronald Reagan and Pope John Paul II were victims of assassination attempts. Anwar Sadet, former president of Egypt, was shot and killed by four revolutionary militants on October 6.

Standing in the serene shadows of a year marked by violence was an extravagant wedding flavored with dashes of fairy tale magic and royalty. Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer, Princess of Wales, exchanged vows in 1981 to become the biggest English attraction since the Beatles.

There was an ironic glitter to some of the events of the year. The U.S. government had trouble getting some things in the air and more trouble getting things out of the air. After an unsuccessful debut, the Columbia Space Shuttle finally got its feet off the ground. In California, a little bug known as the Meditteranean Fruit Fly, endangered the Pacific State's fruit crop.

In Saginaw Township news over the year, the big news was the recall petitioning of Supervisor Rudolf Schmitt, Treasurer Roland Jersevic, and Clerk Clem Putz. As this book goes to press, the petition is still in its early stages.

After the resignation of Frank Jones, township manager, Robert Homan took over that position.

The Fashion Square Sheraton opened to large crowds in the fall of last year, which was just in time for visitors attending the Super Bowl in the Pontiac Silverdome.

Sports disappoint Michigan fans

Michigan sports fans almost had reason to celebrate in 1981. It was a case of the teams that almost were.

Near the end of the summer, Tiger fever kept arm-chair athletes on the edge of their seats. The Tiger tradition of finishing in fourth was given a boost, but it wasn't substantial enough to earn a berth in the Season II playoffs. Milwaukee stopped the Tigers in the last week of regular play to take the second half crown of the split-season.

Football fans cheered to the very last pass, also. Both the Michigan Wolverines and the Detroit Lions, with the exciting play of interim quarterback Eric Hipple, let the loyal supporters down at the last minute, bowing out prior to post-season play.

Quantity and quality filled this year's Debate Team. The debaters travelled over twice as much as they had in previous years, and the extra experience paid off for both the novice and varsity groups. Both teams set a new school record by bringing home 11 trophies from the Central State's Forensics League.

In the novice division, the speaker awards went to: Rusty Hill, second place; Gary Boss, third place; Bill Allen, fourth place; MaryBeth Hastings, fifth place; Kim Hausbeck, sixth place; and Bob Wolf, eighth place. The Novice team finished first overall.

In the varsity division, Julie Hastings, Eric Guerin, and Nancy Caswell finished second, third, and eighth place respectively. The varsity debaters ended third place in the league.

Eric Guerin attended the Lincoln Douglas Tournament in Ithaca, Michigan. He was the only Eisenhower student to attend this and brought home a first place award.

Hard work and determination pays off for Junior Ned Quinn as he rehearses for an upcoming performance of the Fire Starter.

Displaying one of her many talents, Senior Michelle Perko sings the opening for the multiple Moonshadows.

Practicing long hours to perfect voice, movement, transitions, and eye contact, the readers' theatre class prepared for Forensic Tournaments throughout the year.

The class consisted of two multiple readings with three to eight participants in each. The object is to work creatively, using voice, body, and expression to portray a theme using script.

In 1981 the multiple The Veldt (Brian Blecke, Nancy Caswell, Tammy Detloff, Bruce Hill, Dave Shaler, Jenny Wight) won the state championship with their representation of the fear of computerization takeover and the Runaways (Debbie Burnell, Steve Danielson, Don Derryberry, Curt Harding, Laura McCargar, and Michelle Perko) reached the quarterfinals. Coach Cindy Bomboske expected to do just as well if not better with this years'groups (The Fire Starter and Moonshadow). She commented that both of them had the potential and the desire to place first in the state.

The multiple the Fire Starter won their first and second competitions this year at Eisenhower. The members portray characters from the novel by Stephen King which depicts human experimentation. Moonshadows took second and deals with handicapped people. They represent the year of the disabled.

Winning the overall state championship has been the Forensic team's goal. Having been third in the state last year their hopes have good reason to be high. The arrival of new talent combined with the strength of the returning members made this year's goal a real possibility.

The competition was stiff as Eisenhower competed against Essexville Garber, Birmingham Seaholm and Sterling Heights Stevenson.

At home, in Eisenhower the first tournament proved successful when Ike came through with a third only a small margin fron second.

Serious and humorous readings, story telling, informative, dramatic duo, oratory, impromtu, and extemporaneous only brushes the top of the list of Forensics events. Different events are chosen each year for 9th and 10th grades. Storytelling and informative take their turn this year.

To make a successful team you need a successful coach. Cindy Bomboske contributes to the team every year by filling this position. She is considered one of the finest coaches in the state. A special credit is also given to student teacher Carolyn Sienko.

Building a strong team was a main objective for this year's Ike wrestling team.

Coach Jim Crowl noted, "It was hard to fill a full team, because not enough people went out." There were not enough people to fill each weight class so the team lost six points for each forfeit.

Seniors played a major part on this years wrestling team, but the underclassmen also put their best foot forward and added to the success of the team.

The wrestling team only lost 3 or 4 seniors this year, so it will have a strong foundation for next year.

The most improved wrestler this year was Darren Rameriz. Serving as team captians were Rob Miles and Gary Frederick.

Underclassmen tackle the responsibility of a varsity team

Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen primarily carried thisyear'sski teams. As this book goes to press, the record stoodat 0-3. Due to lack of information, a scoreboard was unavailable.

Due to the absence of senior Add Cummings, injured earlier in the fall during soccer season, the number one spot went to lone senior, Tom Beird. Beird was followed by junior Randy Bruce, who helped pace the teams throughout the season. Juniors Steve Freigang and John Krzak and sophomore Jim McGillis also contributed greatly to the teams success.

The girls team was paced by Senior Carol Gagnon who gave the other teams "fits" throughout the entire season. Sophomore Tammi Fickes had an exceptional season and contributed greatly to the girls team. Freshman Rachel Montgomery, junior Laurie Baldwin, and senior Kerri Clark scored well during their first season at varsity level.

Both girls and boys teams were coached by Mr. Dick Williams. Williams comments,"Both teams are young and do not have a lot of experience at racing the varsity level."

The practices are held at Bintz Apple Mountain Ski Resort every night. Even when the tenpsoared below freezing and the wind chill factor dropped, the team still worked toward perfection.

Skaters stress hitting and quickness

Eisenhower's hockey team handicapped all other reams by stressing hard hitting and quick skating this year.

Although the young icers found themselves out-sized and out-muscled in many of the games, they make up for their small size with aggressive checking and marking of the bigger players. This proved to be a big factor in their upset of a top ranked Bay City All Saints team, 6-5.

Other season highlights included four early season wins, two over Mt. Morris, 10-0 and 8-5, and two wins against a tough Bridgeport squad, 5-2 and 3-1.

Top scorers included sophomore Tim Konsdorf and junior Ed DeGroat. Other first teamers were Jim Nelson, Dan Drapp, and Bob Cox.

Minding the nets this year was first year player, sophomore Scott Monroe.

The Commanders were coached by Dave Michelson and Ron Wisniewski.

Varsity basketball, as stated by Coach Terry Boswell mid-way through the season, was " going better than expected."

At one time during the season, the Commanders were rated 11th in the state, losing only to Bridgeport by one point and Mount Pleasant by four.

The varsity record was 8-2 when this book went to press, and the White Pine Conference record was 3-2.

The team was led by seniors Tom Porath, Jim Kruska, Ken Shemanski, Brian Van Alstine, Rich Griffith, and Keith Hoffman. Bringing up the rear were juniors Jim Alles, Dale Jessop, Mike Parker, Brian Trybulski, Brad Phillion, Pat Vondette and the lone sophomore, Greg Gendregske.

Besides being the tallest team in the White Pine Conference, the team had some dominant players. Jim Alles, Jim Kruska, Tom Porath, and Brian Van Alstine were the team's highest scorers.

When March Madness started to creep up, the varsity team looked with eagerness, but also with concern toward tournament games.

J. V. provides aspiring athletes, varsity rebuilds team

Improving and rebuilding was what the Varsity Volleyball Team was striving for this year. The squad got off to a slow start, but that didn't discourage the members. They planned on working together to improve with each game.

In previous years, the teams had one specific starting line-up, but because the entire group of starters were lost last year, all players had their chance to contribute.

As coach Barb Yeo said, "All of the girls are of almost equal ability and they are consistant."

This was Miss Yeo's first year coaching volleyball here. Prior to this, she headed basketball in Kalamazoo. She commented that the group had good depth, but this was mainly a rebuilding year so that by next year they should be ready for anything.

As the junior varsity squad started it's season, it also had high hopes. Second year coach Connie Steep predicted that the girls wouldwin at least 50 percent on their games. She had hoped to improve from last years record of 5 wins and 7 losses The outlook had been good because of the entirely new team and because of the season opener win against MacArthur, 2 games to 1. In the past volleyball has been one of Eisenhower's strong sports, and this year's team planned on following that tradition.

The 1981-82 Swim Team had an excellent season and showed many outstanding accomplishments. With a dual meet record of 11 wins and 1 loss, the team came very close to finishing the season undefeated.

Returning as top swimmer in the 100-yard backstroke, Don Barton was one of this season's top swimmers in the state. Barton has held records in the 100, 200, and 500-yard freestyles, 200-yard individual medley, 100-yard butterfly, and the 100-yard backstroke. He qualified for the state meet in every event he swam this season. Another top swimmer, Rusty Hill, returned to qualify for state in the 200-yard individual medley, and the 100-yard butterfly.

Todd Dulak, who placed ninth in the 100-yard breaststroke at the 1981 state meet, qualified in the same event this year. Jeff Dornseifer qualified in the 100-yard backstroke, and the team of Barton, Hill, Dulak, and Erick Kruse qualified in both the 200-yard medley relay, and the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The trio of Kyle Cardinal, Dave Paquette, and Sean Howard proved their hard work with outstanding performances in diving. They did this with the help pf diving coach Scott Powlus, a 1981 graduate Arthur Hill High School and a top area diver. Cardinal and Paquette both qualified for the state diving regionals. Freshmar Roger Cantu and Jim Dunbar improved rapidly throughout the season, and Coach Dave Staudacher expected that these two will make outstanding contributions in the future.

For the first time in Eisenhower history, the swimmers defeated Arthur Hill in a dual meet. The team also defeated Midland Dow, which had previously held a record of 22 straight wins. As this book goes to press, the team had high expectations of finishing among the top ten teams in the state. Serving as captains for tne year were seniors Don Barton and Jeff Dornseifer.

Preparing to adjust her goggles, Renee Brown awaits the beginning of a race.

Off to a good start, Alison Frenzel helps her team to a victory in the medly relay.

A major goal for the 1981 Girls' Swim Team was to place among the top ten Class B teams in the state. With this in mind throughout the season, eight swimmers and three divers worked together as a team to place 9th of 50 teams at the state meet. This was the first year ever that an Ike Girls' Swim Team finished in the top ten.

Eisenhower placed in four events at state. The team of Kerri Clark, Beth Anderson, Denise Brown, and Sandy Birkelbach took 5th place in the 200-yard Medly Relay. These four girls also set a team varsity record of 2:00.05. In the 50-yard freestyle, Clark placed 9th while Birkelbach finished 10th in the 100-yard butterfly. Another relay team, consisting of Clark, Birkelbach, Brown, and Crissy Douglas swam to 9th place in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Several other girls swam at state but did not qualify for the final competition. Laura Mueller swam the 200-yard freestyle and Denise Brown qualified in the 100-yard butterfly. Backstroker Kris Kanitz qualified in the 100-yard backstroke and swimming the 100-yard breaststroke were Alison Frenzel and Beth Anderson.

Trying something new proved successful for the diving team. With the help of Scott Powlus a 1981 graduate of Arthur Hill High School, the divers did exceptionally well. Each of the divers, Crystal Lake, Sonia Swartzendruber, and sisters Amy and Lisa Friesorger competed at regionals and the first three went to state. As a senior at Arthur Hill, Scott was an all-area diver and took first place at state. This year he served as the first diving coach ever at Eisenhower.

One of the most challenging meets of the dual meet season was against John Glenn. The team was determined to win this meet and set it as another goal.

Team treks cross country

Cross Country, a sport which requires endurance and determination proved to be enthusiastic in competiting this year. It took endurance and determination to survive the slow start it had this year when a number of members dropped out. Replacements were soon acquired and the teams ambition increased.

The Junior Varsity Team was eliminated and Varsity and Freshman sqauds were incorporated to take its place.

Practice started early in August. A routine training session was a run from Eisenhower to their trainers house where they would engage in speed work followed by weightlifting and exercises. After conditioning the team would run back to the school, ending practice for the day. An average of ten miles were run each practice.

The team went to state were they ran into sudden complications with members becoming ill that same afternoon. A 28th position was awarded and taken have signifying the end of the season.

A great disappointment fell upon the team as well as the school when it was learned that the present coach, Mr. Roger Hansen who coached Ikes team from 72-75 and again in 80-81 announced his decision to retire. His years of experience, determination, and strong regard for the team will be missed by everyone.

Teamwork works wonders in second half

After shaking off one tackler Rob Darling heads down the sideline for another Ike TD.

An impressive 5-3 record was sported by the 1981 Freshmen Football Team. Coaches Dave Nizinski and Tom Rybak attributed the team's winning record to its attitude, spirit, and dedication. Coach Nizinski stressed the point that the players worked and won as a team. At the banquet, no special awards were given, and Nizinski pointed out that each kid contributed just as much as the other, and that not one individual was more important.

The 1981 edition of the Commanders had a motto, "We will never be out-conditioned or out-hustled and we will always get stronger in the second half," and the team lived up to that saying. Eisenhower wasn't outscored in the second half in any of its games. It showed its talents in the seconf half, and won a few games because of it. With John Glenn, Eisenhower won the game in the closing 30 seconds of the contest.

The team members also posted some very impressive offensive and defensive statistics. On offense, they moved the ball down the field 2,186 yards, and on defense only allowed their opponents to move the ball 1,118 yards, helping them to control their own destiny.

Gridders display potential

J. V. finishes season at 4-4-1

The Junior Varsity Football Team ended the season with an even record of 4-4-1. Total points showed Eisenhower (146) over their opponents (119).

The team was coached by Mr. Joe Mikolajczak and assisted by former Eisenhower student, Mr. Al Taylor. It was the third year of coaching the team for both Joe "Mike" and Taylor.

On offense, sophomore Greg Gendregske led the team in total scoring with 10 points. Greg Gendregske carried the ball 145 times for 939 yards. Sophomore Mike McTaggert followed in rushing with 84 carries for 368 yards. In pass receiving Dan Skiendziel led the team with 11 receptions for 153 yards. Sophomore Rich Fleshner was second with 8 receptions for a total of 104 yards.

On defense sophomore Rudy Gonzales had 26 unassisted tackles and 47 assits. Sophomore Darrin Willians, Gendregske, and Fleshner each had 3 quarterback sacks. Sophomore Ed Whitting was first in fummble recoveries with 3 and Sophomore Brad Navarro caught 3 interceptions.

The team ended an exciting season by capturing its third shut-out against Corunna, Coach Mike was especially pleased with that victory after two consecutive losses.

A banquet in the school's student center on November 11th ended the season for the team.

Varsity upsets Oilers in double overtime

Running through a tunnel of Eisenhower fans at the rival game against MacArthur is Mark Quagliata.

The offensive line gives quarterback Jim Kruska plenty of time to unload a perfect spiraling pass.

The Commanders gave Mt. Pleasant a surprising shock this year by defeating it 34 to 28. After regulation time had expired both teams were tied at a score of 22 to 22. Each team was then given 4 plays to try to score from their opponents 10 yardline.

Mt. Pleasant went first and succeeded in scoring leaving it all up to the Commander offense. The team then proved that it didn't come all this way for nothing and John Kelly ran the ball into the endzone.

Both teams were tied again so thewhole procedure had to be repeated, but this time the defensive squad stopped the Oilers. Once again Ike had control of the game and quarterback Jim Kruska did just what he had to and ran the ball in himself, winning the game for the Commanders.

The squad did not have quite as much success with the rest of the season and ended up with a 2-7 record. Coach Lou Fenton was pleased with the amount of individual talent on the team, but was disappointed that it couldn't win more of its games. One of the main factors contributing to this year's record was the fact that Ike played a very tough schedule with many of its opponents advancing to districts, regionals, and even state competition.

Some of the individual talent that was honored at the banquet was that of Jim LeBlanc, receiving the Most Valuable Back Award, and Joe Nowasad being most valuable lineman. Todd Campau was given the Most Improved Player honor and John Kelly received the coach's award from Coaches Lou Fenton, Jim Runnler, and Vito Tutera. Jim Paquin and Jim Kruska rounded our the awards ceremony by being awarded the Captains' Trophy.

The Junior Varisty Soccer Team, coached by Luis Parades, kicked its way to a frustrating 3-7-2 season. When the team first formed, Parades saw that the team was physically fit, but needed technical improvement.

There were plenty of midfielders on the team, but there was no goalkeeper. Dave Brasseur filled the hole and eventually received the most improved player award.

Outstanding efforts were put forth by Arik Bry and Scott Loeffler. The pair served as captains of the team, and Bry led the Commanders in scoring.

Varsity lives up to its reputation

Coach Bill Hartle knew from the start that he had a team filled with enthusiasm as well as skill. It finished its fourth season with a winning record of 10-3-1. The team members began the season with four straight wins before falling to a tough East Lansing team. The loss, however, did not hinder the team's success as it came back and posted wins against Valley Lutheran, Traverse City, Flint Powers, and archrival MacArthur.

Grand Blanc gave the Commanders their only tie, as the score went into the record books knotted at 3-3. The game left many scars on Eisenhower's spirit, though, as senior Add Cummings suffered a broken leg that left a hole in the starting lineup.

Both Eisenhower and Grand Blanc were candidates for the North Suburban Soccer League State Plaoffs. The Commanders were selected, but bowed out of the tournament after losing to East Lansing, 1-0.

Add Cumming was voted most valuable player on offense, and Craig Juneman was the MVP on defense. Eric Kruse was the most improved player, and Brian Blecke was selected to receive the "sportsmanship" award. Scott Hartle and Add Cummings both scored 18 goals this year.

Unity! That is the word that best described the pom pon squads this year. They worked together to bring back several trophies from camp at Oakland University.

Both the varsity and junior varsity won first place trophies for originality, kickline, and nightly performance. A first place for congeniality was also awarded to the J.V. squad. The freshmen contributed to the pom pon squads' activities by performing at two parades; the Saginaw Community Hospital, and Fashion Square Roller Rink's second anniversary.

A speed learning clinic was hosted by the girls in November. Twelve Michigan squads came to Eisenhower and participated.

The pom pon squads did something this year never done before. The varsity, junior varsity, and freshmen performed at soccer games. This helped expand the horizons of support for the pom pon girls.

Anne Bovee, adviser, stressed support and unity this year. She summed it all up by saying,"They were a great bunch of girls, and I wouldn't have wanted to coach anyone else. "

Members of the J.V. squad go carolling during the Christmas season.

Nervously awaiting the outcome of the Midland Dow game, Jill Jacobson and Dawn Laatsch anticipate victory.

The cheerleaders' main goal this year was to become more involved than in past years; and that they did. For the first time, they cheered at soccer games and at the girls' basketball tournament games. They continued to cheer at football and boys' basketball games.

The varsity cheerleading and pom pon squads held a pancake breakfast for the varsity soccer and football team members. The varsity and junior varsity units attended camp in June at St. Mary's College, and both groups received several awards and were selected to be in the top seven squads at the camp.

On December 5, the varsity squad traveled to the Pontiac Silverdome for a cheerleading competition, and received a trophy for being placed placed in the top eight squads of the 58 competing.

Activity and achievement are words Jan Taylor lives by. Jan, a freshman, has a busy school schedule of seven classes and lists her favorites as "German, math, and yearbook,--but I like them all!"

After a full day of school, Jan tunes up on her musical talents by playing the piano, practicing with the Saginaw Youth Symphony, and working with an honors quartet. Piano is Jan's favorite, and she has won regional awards in achievement testing and recital and has played for Saginaw's Pit and Balcony.

Even in the summer, Jan concentrates on her musical talents at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, as she has for the past three years.

Another of Jan's interests is in creative writing. She enjoys writing stories and is the owner of many author awards. Jan also displays artistic talents in Eisenhower's studio art class. She is also a participant in Junior Achievement and has taken ballet from Doris Marsh.

What keeps Jan so active? "I don't like to be bored...I'm a very nervous person," she says. When she gets a chance to relax, Jan likes to settle down with a good book or listen to her stereo.

Being satisfied with her talents is important to Jan. When she does something, she says, " I like doing it, knowing I can do it, and doing it well."

Pete de Sibour projects a brave optimism when it comes to his career..

"I would like to go into some art related field-maybe advertising," he said.

Pete knows the competition is very stiff, but modestly boasts about his chances of being successful.

"I feel I'm good enough to make it. You have to feel like that."

Talented children usually come from good stock, and Pete was no exception.

He said, "My father and mother are good drawers, and I've always liked drawing and I enjoy creating new things."

When the weather is permissive, Pete enjoys jogging and golf. During the school year. he is enrolled in the honors seminar program.

As soon as school got out last year, John Graham flew down to Great Lakes, Illinios, on a C130 aircraft to spend three and a half weeks in the Navy.

His daily routines were much the same as the real Navy. He got up at 4:30 a.m. and had to make a "perfect" bed, then he had breakfast, and it was off for six hours of nothing but callisthenics and military training.

After all of this, he ate lunch and went back to his barracks for more schooling. One thing that he learned was Seamanship. This was to teach him how to live on a ship. Another thing that John learned was escape and evasion techniques. This taught him how to escape from enemy prison camps and to avoid the enemy once he has escaped. This skill is what John liked best. All this training has earned John military credits.

Next summer John plans to go to sea on a Naval battleship and continue his training towards becoming a true midshipman. by Greg Gendregske

There is a fine line between success in high school athletics and good grades.

Sophomore Stacy Stelter has found the combination to balance herself upon that wire.

While holding down a "A" average in such classes as integrated geometry and chemistry, Stacy excels in three sports. In the fall, she was a member of the girls' basketball team. During winter she played varsity volleyball, and most recently played softball.

Other parts of Stacy's balancing act are class council and hospital volunteer work.

She feels that, "Sports take time away from school," but to make up for it, she, "stays up late."

"My family is athletic, so I guess that's why I'm involved in sports."

"High school has given me the opportunity to prove myself in two ways; athletically and scholastically, and I think that's great," Stacy commented.

Rich Fleschner . . . football player, hockey player, baseball player. Your typical jock, right? Wrong!

Inspired by Mr. Don Williams, an art teacher at Mackinaw Middle, Rich has been actively involved in the art classes at both Mackinaw and Eisenhower for four years. Although he insists his artistic talent is only a "hobby" to him, Rich has entered his material in contests and been awarded for his work.

As a freshman, Rich received the "Outstanding Freshman Art Student " award from Mr. Walt Nagel Mr. Nagel replied, "Rich could do a lot -- he's still young."

As a five year member of the Y.M.C.A.'s Leaders Club, Gina Bixler keeps herself very busy.

The Ike junior spends approximately five hours per week volunteering her services. Gina works in the gym, at the sleepovers for kids, and in the pool teaching children to swim. "I really like swimming," commented Gina, "It's fun to teach the kids."

Gina has had her advanced lifesaving certificate since 9th grade. She gets her membership at the "Y" free because of her dedication as a volunteer.

Gina plans to become a Marine Biologist to continue her love for the water.

“You learn a lot if you can show people how to attain their dreams”

Bill Cody

Initials can be deceiving .

Take the Saginaw Township-based business consultant firm, C.P. Associates. The "C" stands for Cody, as in Bill Cody, a junior at Eisenhower.

For nearly a year now, Bill has been playing the role of businessman in the Saginaw area.

As a business consultant, Bill gives four to five presentations a week to local businesses, showing them how to make the most of their money through wise investments. The 45-minute presentation gives a thumb-nail sketch of what Bill's clients will be involved in over a period of years.

"You run into people from all walks of life. You learn a lot if you can show people how to attain their dreams."

Bill sports a pretty good record of gaining clients. About 25% of his presentations result in permanent clients.

Bill, who is also involved in his church choir and volunteers as a big brother, plans to graduate in January of his senior year. He feels, "High school is a necessary learning experience," but he needs more time for a blossoming business and career.

Everyone has dreams. Andy Krieger has a firm hold on his dream. As a junior, he knows what he wants out of life, to be "a leading trumpeter in the gospel music world."

And he is willing to pay the price to make this dream come true.

"Things are quickly falling in line," stated Andy, "I'm making myself a name in the music world."

Last summer, Andy was fortunate enough to tour the United States, Great Britian, and Europe with the "Continental Singers," a select group of singers and musicians from across the United States. Approximately 6,000 people auditioned for 550 spots. Andy's group of 39 members performed the same concert 89 times from June to August.

While on tour, Andy stayed in a new home every day. Occasionally being unable to communicate with the Europeans "made the trip interesting," recalls Andy. Andy is looking forward to a coast-to-coast tour of the United States and Eastern Canada this summer.

During the school year, Andy keeps busy participating in Eisenhower's music program. He also teaches eight students trumpet lessons at the Bay City Music Center.

Mr. Mike Vierow, band director at Eisenhower, is confident that Andy will achieve his goal of being a leading performer in the gospel music field. Vierow commented, "Andy is an unusual kid; he's had his act together since he was a freshman."

Enforcing school rules and regulations was just one of the many jobs reserved for our school administrators. Class scheduling, school accounting, and communicating with students on a one-to-one basis were also daily duties.

If you were stranded in the scheduling process, Assistant Principal Allan Larsen was sure to fix the problem, while Assistant Principal Russell Spaulding attended to the attendance of over 1,000 students.

Strict guidance with a soft touch was enforced by Principal Charles Marvin.

Jabber,

Thanks for being so understanding!!!(Steve) I'm glad we are good friends, because you have ALL!! Keep in touch ALWAYS!!

Love ya, Sandy

Catman,

Good thing you missed the minority people at the QUAD and only hit the window. SPLAT! That Honkies lucky he didn't hit me or I would have kicked the BEEP out of him. Can I get sick in my bed too? Yes!!

Rusty,

Remember..Homecoming, CanAmera Games, Florida, silly fights, swim meets, Casa Del Ray, Taco Bell, tennis tournaments that we never stood a chance at, long phone calls, and most of all our Freshman Year when I first met you. Love, Margo

Dear Scott (my fall guy!)

Thank you for being the only bright spot in my senior year. Thanks for sticking by me and loving me. You know I'm gonna miss you next year but remember, If you love something, set it free.....

I love you and I'll be waiting-Jennifer

P.S. July 18, 1986 "Wouldn't it be nice!"

Boone's Fram, Spaghetti, and Little Caesar's has ALL, BICKY!!!

REMEMBER!!!

Deanie G., Kathy P., Michelle B., Michele J., Lori C., Sally P.,

Nobody is better than you guys. You'll always make me laugh. My life wouldn't be quite as fun without you. Remember: What's the name of the game? Fluff, the Hayride, cigars, broken ignition keys, Dorney's party, cheezits, Bowl-O-Mat, straws, singing Christmas carols, swiping chips at Holly's, kicking Italian bread down Genessee, Kathy's poem, you SOB's Sybil, wild cherry slurpees, and wheat snacks.

L.Y., Looper

Pawtner:

Thank you for making this year the best. I will never forget: "Reeses," peewee, Caddyshack, baby grands, animal watching T.V., getting chased bn the V.W. Even though in tennis we were number 2. I will always think of you as number 1. I'm gonna miss ya. Keep in touch.

Love, Wellsy

Varsity Volleyball-I don't know how we ever made it through those early morning practices. Thanks for giving it all ya had.

Cindy

"Men's" Swim Team,

Conquer the Chemics, BEAT DOW!!

Cupcakes with "crap" all over them!! Times that read 14:09 in the 50 free, signs falling down never to be seen again. Kermit's unforgetable habits. We'll never forget any of you!! Good Luck Always. You're all winners.

Luv, Tammy & Margo

C-ball, Joc, and Goose,

Thanx for being there! Remember football and b-ball games, frozen undies, spaghetti, diving, woo-wee, b.t.v., little packages from CVS...You guys are great friends! Sorry I didn't realize it earlier!

Jiff

P.S. Take off you hosers.

Homecoming Court and Escorts,

Cartoon breakfast parties, being nervous, arcade, Holly's (was it landing or By Golly's?!), running red lights, Court Street teddy bears, mint choc. chip ice cream, Aste', tuxes, dresses, smiles, tears, roses...its been a really good thing--but I believe its time for us to fly. Goodbye, I love all of you.

J.V. Pom Pon,

Never forget; Camp, 1st place trophy's, rummage sales, car washes, morning practices(6:30 A.M.), selling(eating) M&M's, fighting, the Glow, Jenni's house, parties, State, and most of all how much we mean to each other. You're all really special to me!

Love Always,

No. 6

Maggie P. I., Francine and Josephine Hardy, Shirley Holmes, Celery Queen, Quincess, Nora Woof, Ms. Columbo, Charlotte Chan-keep on blinking!

Maxine Smart and Jane Bond

Dawn,

Without you next year, I don't know what I'll do. I can't walk you to class, or see you at the rail, or even give you an occasional hug. I hope my absenses won't be a major part of our relationship. Cause we're more than that. We're more than most people. I love you, and always will. The times that we've shared, the troubles and problems that we've had have only made me feel more for you. No matter what ever happens, don't ever forget that you will always hold a special spot in my heart. You have made me happy and my senior year the one I will always remember. And when temptation walks next to you I want you to remember that there is someone that will always love you and needs you very much. If we are to hold a future together we must just keep holding on. And no matter who or what walks between us, we must be strong. We've been through too much to let something happen to us. Because for each other, we're the best there's ever been. I love you.

Wing it, bona fortuna. I love you all....Well, many of you.
Be happy, Tammy

Michelle,
Seen any "elephants" lately?
Beth

Sherri,
I am really glad we got to be better friends. You are a super friend. Remember: T.B.'s party, New Year's Eve, dances, B-ball games, J.R.T., etc. D.F.A.M!!!
Love ya, Sandy

Tammy (Glue 2),
When you see something you want, go for it! Remember you only live once. You made it through your first year. Just wait until the second.
Friends Always, Margo
P.S. FeFe had no competition.

Kris K.,
I'm sure you're gonna miss sleepin' Steve, Dave and his "froot-of-the-loom-on-a-pole," and the rest of the crazies we've come across. I hope you find another job as fun filled as this one. Remember, don't try to save anyone-we're just there to make it look good!
Gina

Kathy-Talk about tight! I'm glad we've become closer and nobody will ever make me laugh like you can. Sorry for writing fluff on your car window.
Love, Looper

To the Seniors,
Our first year here, and your last. We always looked up to you because you showed us what to do.

Have fun walking out the Eisenhower door, hope we survive through three more!!!
Best of Luck,
Freshman Class of '85

Kubz, Pam, Gay Ray, Laurie D., Maria, Kim P., Sue S., Lisa, Deb W.,
We've all shared so much together and memories I'll never forget. You are each very special to me. But we can't stop now...the future holds so much!
Love you all, Moe

DEAR A.A.F.,
IT TOOK ME FOUR YEARS TO LEARN THAT NO ONE CAN TAKE YOUR PLACE. I'VE TRIED TO GO MY SEPERATE WAYS, BUT THEY ALWAYS LEAD ME BACK TO YOU. I'LL ALWAYS LOVE YOU.
YOUR BEST FRIEND,
B.M.S.

Joesifer-
What would I do without you, miss all the deadlines-right? Whenever you look at the cover think of preparatory, prince andrew, parabulas, peanut M&M's and me. Let Erik mold you and you'll be a star-right? I'll miss you next year. Always remember Taco Bell, "I'm the editor so shut up," Calc is like a rock, our golden rules, and sit on my what? Send me a copy of CMU's yearbook when you're the editor.
Love, Jenniseph

Margaret,
When you went to Mexico, did you meet lots of Tacos and have lots of Burritos?
See ya later droopy......

Deanie-I'd say the long talks really were the best. I'll never forget them. Thanks for always making things fun and making last summer special.
Love, Cindy

Sherry, Terri, and Tracy,
The past four years were filled with many memories that I will never forget and I'm sure there are more to come. Your friendship is something I will always cherish. Best of luck always.
Karen

Rock:
From an oompa to a beege. Hope nose doesn't know. Remember note on oomp's car, American Literature, snow ice cream and a car that never starts!

Nean,
What am I going to do next year without you? I guess I will be at MSU a lot!! You are really a super friend!! We have had a lot of great times together, Remember: N.Y.E., J.R.T., Movies, dances,S.I., S.O.N., cries, J.J.R., J.S.K., S.B.J., M.S.G., I.C.G.O.F.E.B........D.F.A.M.
Love Ya, Sandy

P.O.E.,
I'm so glad I decided to accompany the group. I think all you guys are great! You all have really made my Senior year a lot better. Even though I won't be around next year...you all will be remembered! The bad part about graduating is leaving you behind! But the good part is the memories. Thanks!
Love, (the 9th piece)

Chopper:
No. 5 in Blueboy, Battlecreek, Bill Knapps Birthday Club, St. Vincents tailored coats, "Rocky Horror Picture Show," Boxes of Crackers, "Boring," durfing, getting stuck in the driveway, "Too Drunk to Funk." You're a riot of a friend, lets keep it going or coming.
Love, Wellsy

Maria,
We've finally out of this pit!! You've been the best friend ever. Never forget all the good times we've had. Never forget Rick and Mark. Eastern was a RIOT! Remember Frankenmuth-NO!! You're one in a million-Thank God!! I Love ya,
Kim

Eisenhower Boys Swim Team,
You guys are all great!! You helped to make our year more enjoyable. Thanks for giving us 100 chances to get it right.

Karen,
It began 1st hour Science 9th grade. Since then we have become good friends. I hope it doesn't end with Conditioning. Keep in touch!
Friends forever, Patty

Kubczakski:
Remember: "Ah Lou ET Aye" in Sartzy-babys, corrupting in Bos, giving the host a bone, Bill Knapps Birthday Club with cake, rolls with honey, babys with punk haircuts, ladies who aren't hungry "Chomp-chomp." You've made this year a riot! Keep in touch.
Love, Wellsy

Tracy,
When ever I needed you, you were always there. We have had many great times together. Remember...Doc, Smirp up, when you couldn't see the balcony, the dances we went to, the games, sayings "Lunie" and "Kirky" "come here," getting centerfold pranks, and just being together. Even though we just began our friendship, I hope it will last forever.
Love ya, Jamie

Michelle & Erin,
Next time we'll have to use the driveway, It's safer and doesn't draw as much attention. P.S. I never did get the money from the emptys.
Michele

Tiffy,
What's up? Always remember security guards, donuts, BICS, mufflers, piles, The P.P.P. and all our other fun times.
Kiki, Bitsy

Sally P.-Why did we put the nets up? Circus Time!
Going out hasn't been the same without ya!
But the Gushy knees will still live on.
Love, Cindy

Todd and Lori,
Latin I will never be the same without us. Thanks for all the help. I know I would have flunked without your support. You're two great friends. Good luck at College Todd. Lori, I will see you next year in Latin II.
Your "A" buddy

Get A Clue-You really gave me a night to remember. It couldn't have been better. Sometime let's go out and tie a yellow ribbon round the "Old Oak Tree." Don't ever leave me in the dark, unless you come find me.
Who else?

S.H.,
I'm really glad I got to know you this year. You're really pretty special to me! Thanks for making 2nd hr. worth it! And remember there's more than one out there! Keep that special smile
Love ya lots
R.L.

Bicky,
WE didn't seem to get in much trouble this year, I did it all by myself. You are a super friend and I best be in your wedding. Don't forget about me, honey!!!
Love ya, Sandy

Jamie,
Do you always talk to strangers? Remember Kirky, NIO, firecrackers, swim meets, Kevin Maday, eyes, Lane 5, when you fell in the ditch, Penney's, and the Gears game. Thanks for being there, the memories, and calling DOC!!
F/F Love, Tracy

Deanie,
That letter still holds true. Thanks for always listening, laughing, crying, and just being there.

All of you are really great friends. Thanks for everything. You all know what I mean. Keep in touch, OK?

Love, Julie W.

Tom,

I am always yelling, "What am I going to do with you!" The truth is, what would I do without you!

Love Always,
Julie

Jenean,

Thanks for all of the times we've had. You learn through friends about life. Through those times you bring out the good and bad of them. But life is a rollercaoster-always up and down. Why can't people get along? I know we can mend the broken feelings and have our friendship the way it was. I miss those late night talks. I will remember all of the moments the both of us have had together. I can't wait for State-Watch out everybody.

Love, Cathy

LAAR,

You're one of the greatest friends anyone could have! Always remember the fun times we always had everywhere we went. (Camping, dances, Burger King.) Hope we have more great times ahead!

Mrs. Moe

Sandy Roof, I know you can handle it!!!

Diz & McSuede,

Remember the Glow? Remember the football game when McSuede got lost and Chip got a little wet?

F/F Chip & Brena

Marie,

We've had some good times in New Haven where names were unimportant. When we talked in the car with a Bum. But we moved up to a pickle and a zuzumbo. The riots in the streets and karate lessons. Hope to kill some soldiars in the future.

Gales Mistress

Kernen,

How's my half brain? Someday soon we'll go back to Canada so we can see Alex and Kevin, yes way! By the way have you gotten any SOTP lately? Thanks for being there!!

Love, Merphy

Miss Spaulding-

I don't think 1982 has been what either of us expected so far. Thank goodness for E. zones and for you. I hope you're proud of the book-we did it for you. I'm really going to miss you next year.

Thanks for Everything
Jenny (Rinky dink no. 2)

P.S. If you get lonely without Joe and me eat Taco Bell!

Blair, Don, Er, French Fry, Goatron, Loretta, Squat,

You guys are the best I could ever ask for!!! Don't ever forget; Halloween Hayride, Giovanies, "road trips," Bacardi parties at the W.B! (Dale too!), strawberry slurpys, Junior Mints, cheese its, Hollys by Gollys, New Years Eve(we never really thought of midnight like that before!), The stream, "Centerfold," "Here I Am" "OH NO" Fluft, pop, "PYS," Tonys "fall out" B.A.H. wheat snacks, "TJAI" "bosh beave" "S's OB's" and the list could go on and on and even if our goatron couldn't be with us we always thought about her! You guys are all very special to me and I don't know where I'd be without ya! Thanx for always being there and thanks for making my junior year the best yet!
Luv ya lots,
Me!(Autistic Agnus)

Amy, Lynne, and Michelle,

Senior year is a year to truly enjoy all the parties to the fullest. So girls lets do it right, with a touch of class! Senioritis has been great with you guys. Come see me, and party once again, at Central!
Friends Forever, Karen

Chi Chi,

Remember... REO, Gary RichRath, Continentals, Tawas, Scott McDonald, Holiday Inn, Days Inn, playing basketball with beer bottles, Sugerloaf, snowmobiles in the creek, Perehville!

Dawn, Jill, Wendy, Beth, Sue, LTCLC Sisters?
Thanx for the great year, never forget the good times. Many more.
Love, Tam

Jennisef,

Go ahead, sit on my foot! This is it. Love it or leave it. What color is the cover? How 'bout the end sheets? Uncle Carl's fahmulas for manipulation (not spelled that way, of course) of a parabula rotated around the x have made history. Call me sometime-799-4469 (R.R.R.).
Be mellow-Joesifer

To my Dear Sandy:

You are such a good friend. I am glad I have you for a friend. I will always remember the good times we've had....space invaders, Zips, and train station? Thanks for everything.
Love, Cathy

Robin Lakey(the 9th)

You were the most important piece. Without all your work we wouldn't have made it through. Thanks for all the great times and good advice. Good luck always. You're the best!
Love, Shawn

Lisa and Sue,

It sure won't be the same without you next year, especailly in forum. (Sue you did a great job!) You guys are a riot! Remember Forum camping trips, Winter Blitz, and long talks. You're very special to me...I'm glad we're friends! I wish you both the best of luck! I'm really gonna miss you. Keep in Touch!
Love always,
Gretchen

Becky:

We've been through some really good times together. There are a few bad times that I would like to forget, but those are behind us now. Remember 10th grade. That was a special year neither of us will ever forget. You're the best friend anyone could ever have. We'll be friends forever. I'm so happy you found Jeff, he's great!!
Love, Sherri

To All of My Friends:

I want to thank all of you for everything. My friends mean a lot to me. All of you have helped me make it through life. I hope we can stay in touch forever. I am going to miss all of you. Thanks guys.
Love, Cathy

Ausma,

We've gone through a lot together. Well now we go our separate ways, Keep in touch. Remember last summer!
Love K.C.

sweet et ceteras

Janalyn:

Friday lets drive in circles around Shell; Bubba, you in there? Violent parties are fun...but if they hit my car I'm gonna stop. Um, mm, clunie...Seventeen? Names aren't important. CMU is. You chewin? I'm gonna laugh. Nobody but us, Remember? We're crazy.

Renee

Sis

All that I can say is we've been through a lot together. The troubles we've been through, the times we've shared and the memories we've made. Remember them all!

Love Big Sis

P.S.-Driveways, Ski Practices, D.C., Ski trips, swim team, etc, etc, etc..........

Tammy,

Remember: Highbanks, all niters, Imerman, parties, great times and talks. Don't leave this summer, think what you would miss!

B.F.F. Kelly

Harry-Laur:

We've been through thick & thick Mr. Wenzel's, Biology, Sr. Comp., good times and bad times, and all other sorts of fun. I hope you'll never forget me cuz there'll always be a special place in my heart for you both.

All my love, Izod

Brena,

"Hello may I speak to Greg please?" "Silly" me, I had "Sweet Dreams" of "Gatto Life" "Let's grove" to the Glow, and see Greg in his "Blue Jeans."

(Remember?) Love, Chip

MBM,

If you keep "Thinking" you're gonna blow away (But what a way to go)!!! How 'bout a dance? MBM your great! I'll miss you! I'll miss you!

K.I.T. Luv, MKB

Pete,

Hey we finally made it through all four years. Good Luck at Ferris! Remember I'll be an hour away at Central! See ya this summer!!! Have fun in all you do! Best wishes!

Friends Always,

Miss Balton-

This is it! What do you think? I've loved every second. You and this place hath given me much. Thanks.

Love, Joe

JGB–DMB,

Thanks for hanging onto me at all times, even when I was ready to hang it up. Pomp and Circumstance, and life...thank you for all of it.

Deb

Miss Spaulding,

"The best that can be said of the best among us is that we have done the best that we could." (Remember how birds of a feather flock together?)

Thank you for all the ideas, creativity and potentialities you've kindled. I can't imagine life without THE WORD. Remember me as a "forever friend," and of course a relative by feathers! May life never ruffle you. You're the most talented woman I know--the world's at your feet!

Deb

RAL

What do you say to someone you've known since 1st grade. Well just remember and chirish the times we've had, memories must live on. Keep in touch!

P.S.-D.C., Pickles, Ski trip, sermons, blueberries, Kochville Road, and etc, etc, etc.

Love K.C.

Maria,

Paurther,

The memories we have shared will never be forgotten! One day I'll hardly knew you and the next day you became my No. 1 paurther! Thanx for all the great times! Arecess will never taste the same without you!! I'll miss ya!

S.I.C.!! Luv ya,
The other Paurther

Merp,

I guess you can say, we've had a few laughs. Thanx for being there when I needed you. You've got a great half a brain.

Love, Kern

Jennifer,

What can I say? We've been through everything together. You helped make my high school years the best that they could be. I'll never forget Kochville, to Dice Rd., to Sanford, the daiy, and now. But now "It's time for me to fly." My "Dreams are on distant shores" and "They're calling me away." So keep in touch and I hope you're saying-I,Y,L,S-S,I,F,-I,I,D, R,I,W,N,M,T,B-I,I,D,-L,I,F.

I Love You
Scunt

IZOD,

Well, I have to say that we've had a lot of great times together. Remember all of our personal jokes and phrases: Oooh girl!, RRR..., Yea you are! I don't even.. and I'll never forget all the times people thought we were going together!! Hope we have a lot more good times ahead.

Friends Forever, Harry

P.S. Thanks for all your support at state!

Gina, Thanks for being such a good friend. Sorry for all the "seriously" "serious" remarks. Next time you take your cats to the vet, have him check your "puppy dog ears." Margo

School holds many emotions. The last day as a senior may be more trying than the first day as a kindergarten student. Sara Brady pantomimes the first day of school as an anxious child, while Diane Lemmer portrays her patient yet stern mother.

The yearbook staff would like to thank the following for their generous contributions to Introspectus 1982:

The Township Times
The Saginaw News
Barry Rankin Photography
Paetz Photography
Rummel Studios
Mrs. Kay Moeller
Mrs. Joan Fleener
Eric Gruesbeck
Diane Gruesbeck
Kathy York
Mr. Walt Nagel
Mrs. Warda Compton

There are faces, and there are feelings very unique to this year.

In some respects, it was a year pulled out of the past, blended with future flashes of style and class.

Your memories are preserved and locked tight. Introspectus 1982 is the key to unlock the year. Use it to remember the faces and the feelings, the people and the places, and the styles and music of the year.

The Introspectus staff found dedication and determination the most direct path to a successfull book, and sincerely hopes you have and will use it as a stepping stone to the past.
